

Charles DuVal Waddell

Biography

Charles DuVal Waddell, a 12-year resident of Herndon and native Virginian, is serving his first term on the Herndon Town Council. In 2007, he was appointed to the Transportation Policy Committee and the Transportation Steering Committee of the Virginia Municipal League (VML).

An active member of the Dumbarton Square Homeowners' Association, Waddell has served as the group's president for the past 10 years. He is the current chairman of the Herndon Community Association Coalition (HCAC), a post he has held for five years; HCAC initiatives under his leadership include the sponsorship of a Town Hall meeting on excessive occupancy and a joint sponsorship with the Herndon Planning Commission of a Town Hall meeting on the zoning ordinance rewrite project. He is secretary of the Herndon Historical Society and is also past chairman of the Herndon Crime Prevention Council.

As a citizen advocate, Waddell has been an outspoken contributor to Town-wide discussions on such projects as the PPEA Downtown Development project and the Fortnightly II project, commenting at Town Council public hearings and via regular contributions to community publications and newspapers.

Waddell holds a BS degree from Randolph-Macon College and an associate degree in applied science from J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College. He is a senior systems engineer with Systems Engineering Services Corporation in Reston, VA.
